New owner in to save play centre

A POPULAR play facility that was set for closure has been saved after a new owner stepped in.

Toni Simpkin, a mum-of-one from Haverhill, has taken over Rascals Playbarn after the current owners announced the end of the road last month.

It has been renamed as Simmo's Playzone, and the news was confirmed via Rascals' Facebook page.

An initial post was made on the social networking site on July 23, saying that someone new was taking over the facility.

The news was finalised last Friday.

Toni, who has a seven-year-old son named JJ, said: "I thought it was sad to see it go and the town needs something like that."

"I am a local person with a local family and it can bring a lot to the town."

The centre, in Boundary Road, was re-opened in May this year by EuroMillions winner Gillian Bayford and friend Cindy Smith.

It had previously been known as Cheeky Chimps, but that too closed in February this year.

Gillian said of the closure: "I have got a lot of commitments going on and I couldn't give it the time that it needs."

"Toni is going to take it on, the staff's jobs will continue and I am grateful that it's going to be someone who cares about it."

Simmo's Playzone will open later this month, but a date has not yet been decided.

Parents and visitors were shocked when an announcement was made on Rascals' Facebook page announcing that due to "unforeseen circumstances" they would be closing last weekend.

It said: "It is with great regret that as of 4pm on Sunday, July 28, Rascals shall close its doors and cease trading."

"All parties booked until then shall be honoured and any bookings past this date, any payments made, shall be refunded in full."

"We would like to thank all of the customers who have supported us in the time we have been open. Thank you Rascals."

The good news that Rascals was being taken on by Toni was a relief for parents and visitors who were fearful that their children would again lose out on a key community facility.

Fourth family fun day is a big hit

FAMILIES took advantage of the warm weather and started the school holidays with a fun day in the sun.

Haverhill's fourth annual fun day was held on Saturday at the town's rugby club. Taking place from noon until midnight, the day's programme was full to the brim with stalls offering everything from face painting to confectionary, games for adults and children alike and a continuous soundtrack provided by resident DJs. Visitors could also enjoy a snack from the barbecue or a tipple from the beer tent, or even try their luck in the grand raffle. The party went on all day and night and raised more than £300. All funds raised on the day were going towards child bereavement charity Grief Encounter, which works towards helping children who have suffered a loss.

CARING GESTURE: Cameron Hayes with nan Linda Hayes and hairdresser Stacey Norris

Cameron, 9, shows his support for nan

DEBRA FOX

A SCHOOLBOY has shaved his head as his grandmother prepares to begin chemotherapy.

Burton End Primary pupil Cameron Hayes decided to raise money for St Nicholas Hospice Care and support his beloved nan in one big gesture.

The nine-year-old had his head shaved on Tuesday at Creation Hair Studios, on Gloucester Road.

Nan Linda, 62, also had her hair cut then.

The 62-year-old is about to start a three-month course of chemo for colon cancer, and wanted to have her hair cut short before it was affected by the treatment.

She said: "I am very proud of Cameron for what he has done."

Cheeky Cameron has raised between £300 and £400 towards his £1,000 target.

He also has £90 donated onto his Just Giving Page.

He said: "I wanted to have my head shaved because I didn't want my nan to be the odd one out. I love her very much and wanted to support her."

"When I told my friends what I was doing they sponsored me. I don't care about my hair being shaved off, because I can't see my hair anyway."

Mum Shelley, of Bures Court, said that Cameron shocked the family with his announcement three weeks ago.

Now she thinks he might have got a taste for the fundraising.

She said: "I was shocked because Cameron loves to do his hair in different styles."

"Both me and the rest of the family all jumped on board straight away."

Jordan Hughes, St Nicholas Hospice Care Community Fundraiser, explained Cameron's donation will help to support patients suffering from the illness, as well as their families.

He said: "Everyone at the hospice is very touched by Cameron's kind gesture in supporting both his nan and us at the same time."

"Thank you to the Hayes family for everything they have done for the Hospice."

Cameron has until the end of the summer holidays to collect his money, so visit www.justgiving.com/Cameron-Hayes1

Dorothy enjoys special birthday celebrations

A GREAT grandmother celebrated turning 100 surrounded by her family on Saturday.

Dorothy Lyons, who was born in Belfast, lived and raised her family in London and worked in a bakers there before moving to Haverhill in 1977.

The centenarian spent an enjoyable afternoon at home sharing birthday cake, presents and celebrations with her son Colin, 69, granddaughters Angela, 47, and Hazel, 43, and great grandchildren Mercy, 21, Larnie, 20, Rory, 18, Perry, 17, and Alec, 14.

She also got a special delivery of flowers from her son David, 75, who lives in Australia.

The morning of her birthday, on July 27, Dorothy received her telegram from the Queen.

Hazel said: "She loved it. "She looked a bit bemused by it all, but she had some nice balloons and flowers and a great time."

Dangerous driving trial over van chase

A MAN has pleaded not guilty to dangerous driving after chasing a van around Haverhill at high speed, Ipswich Crown Court heard.

Salvino Tillet, 25, of Landseer Court, Haverhill, has admitted he chased the van and went the wrong way around a roundabout but insisted it was not his fault.

The incident allegedly began when Lee Blackman, 26, reversed a white van into the path of Tillet's Fiat Punto car on the morning of October 29, 2012.

Matthew Cannon was a front seat passenger in the car, travelling with Tillet.

He told the jury that the van came very close to the Punto, stopped, and then collided with the passenger door before driving off.

He said he believed Mr

DEBRA FOX

Blackman had not been looking when he emerged from Castle Lane.

Margia Mostafa, prosecuting, said that Tillet then chased the van through Haverhill in an attempt to catch up.

At a roundabout near the town's Tesco, the van suddenly braked and after Tillet took the roundabout the wrong way, the vehicles collided.

During the chase, the van was driven through a gap in a fence and onto a disused railway line.

Tillet's car was allegedly beginning to break down and was travelling at about 5mph.

Taxi driver Lisa Payne who had been waiting at the Tesco store for a passenger said she called the police after hearing a screeching of tyres and a loud bang.

During the chase other motorists as well as pedestrians had been forced to move out of the way as the two vehicles sped past, claimed Miss Mustafa.

Police stopped both vehicles and Tillet was arrested.

When interviewed he admitted chasing the van as it had collided with his car and that he had gone the wrong way on a roundabout.

Tillet said he had been forced to make the manoeuvre in an effort to avoid a collision as the van suddenly braked.

Miss Mustafa said: "The driving of both men fell far below the standard expected of a responsible driver."

The trial continues.

Police appeal over string of burglaries in town

A TRIO of burglaries happened in one day in Haverhill.

Three properties were broken into last Friday and things were taken from all of them.

Culprits entered a home in Yarmouth Road between 11am and 11.15am and took a wallet.

A handbag and wallet were also stolen from a property in Strawberry Fields between 8am and midnight.

The third incident, in Harewood Terrace, saw a handbag emptied and a purse taken from inside.

This burglary happened between 6pm and 8.45pm.

WINNERS: Norma Blick, above, in the flower show and Sarah Davis in the cake show.

WHAT A DAY: Haverhill Summer Bash's tug of war winners and, below, mum Elaine Edmead with baby show winner Gracie-Mae Leatherland, aged two-and-a-half.

Summer Bash earns £4k for charity

HAVERHILL'S highly-anticipated Summer Bash raised £4,000 for main beneficiary Lamp H, as well as the town's elderly, scouts and food bank, the Weekly News can exclusively reveal.

The event, held on the town's recreation ground on July 21, called on talent, businesses and volunteers from across Haverhill to join forces and make the best summer show seen in years.

The combination of traditional summer activities – including a cake and flower show – with exciting entertainment was a winning one with thousands of people flocking to the rec to take part.

An estimated 7,000 bash-goers were there on the day.

Show committee chairman David Doughty said: "I had a smile on my face the whole day."

"Our team knew this town could do it, and we have been inundated through Facebook and even in the street ever since with congratulations from the public.

"Most were saying how good it was and the variety of things for all ages."

The day started with a lazy car boot sale from 8am, but the show was opened in style as Town Mayor Cllr Roger André arrived in the Haverhill car – a cadillac – leading a procession of vehicles.

Dog, baby, flower and cake shows followed, as well as a fancy dress competition, athletic and dance demonstrations.

Two-and-a-half-year-old Gracie-Mae Leatherland took home the prize for the baby show, while master-baker Sarah Davis won best Victoria Sponge and Norma Blick got the award for best posy.

This year's inaugural event was barely over before David and the rest of the committee started looking towards a bigger and, if possible, better Summer Bash next year.

Darts team hit the bullseye to take total over £2,000

ON THE OCHE: St Nicholas Hospice Care community fundraiser Jordan Hughes with members of Haverhill Darts League.

A CHARITY match and several collections have helped a sports team raise more than £2,000 for a hospice.

Haverhill Darts League handed £263 to St Nicholas Care on Monday, July 29, taking the total the team have raised over the last two years to £2,250.

Members of the team also asked guests and spectators for donations at the end of matches.

Jordan Hughes, St Nicholas Hospice Care community fundraiser, said: "For a small club to have raised nearly £2,250 since August 2011 is incredible.

"Well done and thank you to everyone involved – this money helps the Hospice to support patients facing life-shortening illnesses and their families."

Sarah welcomed as group's new leader

DEBRA FOX

ONE Haverhill's current vice-chairman has stepped forward and taken the lead of the group.

The independent partnership, which brings together resources and groups to provide one voice for the town, has been led by Anne Gower for the last two years.

Anne, who represents Suffolk County Council on the board, has been succeeded by Sarah Howard.

Sarah was elected by a majority vote across the group and represents Suffolk Chamber of Commerce. She will chair her first meeting in September, but has officially taken the reins now.

She was an integral part of helping to create a community budget plan for the town, in partnership with Haverhill residents.

She said: "Anne has done such a fantastic job getting Haverhill going, so I am taking on a very healthy organisation from her.

"I'm quite excited because there's lots of stuff we can do, and it's going to be interesting to see what we can achieve."

Anne was originally appointed to help the partnership develop and find its feet over a "transition" period.

She said: "Sarah has been vice-chair of the partnership for the last two years and has ably led the core group in developing the Neighbourhood Community Budget pilot for Haverhill.

"I wish Sarah, and ONE Haverhill, every success going forward into its next phase.

"I would also like to take this final opportunity to say thank you to the members of the Board who have supported me publicly and privately – it has been a joy to work with them and I sincerely wish them all the best for the future."

There will also be two new additions to the ONE Haverhill board as of September – both Suffolk county councillors.

Cllr Rebecca Hopfensperger, cabinet member for localities, and UKIP councillor Cllr Tony Brown, who represents the Haverhill East and Kedington Ward, are joining the team to replace Anne and former mayor of St Edmundsbury, Cllr Tim Marks.

Peter Lee, 75, formerly of the Woolpack Pub, on Queen Street, Haverhill appeared at Ipswich Crown Court on July 26 and pleaded not guilty to all of the alleged offences.

He has been bailed until his trial start date on September

Dad's 30,000ft leap in memory of his son

ELEANOR DICKINSON

A BEREAVED father has decided to take on the ultimate leap of faith to raise money for The Sick Children's Trust.

Conrad Swinfield-Wells plans to attempt a world-record breaking parachute jump from 30,000ft in memory of his son Tomas, who died aged just four-and-a-half months old.

He and his wife Jo will travel to Tennessee in September, where the 45-year-old of Helions Bumpstead will attempt the historic feat.

He said: "Tomas put up one hell of a fight. All the team at the Rosie called him the bomb-proof baby.

"He was born 23 weeks premature and weighed only one-and-a-half pounds. He kept getting every possible thing a premature baby could get, but he just kept on fighting."

After pulling through a collapsed lung and three cardiac arrests, Tomas tragically died from a bowel disease as his parents said goodbye.

Conrad now wants to do this incredible jump to raise £30,000 for the charity The Children's Trust, which supported him and his wife during Tomas' illness.

He said: "We stayed at one of The Trust's 'Homes from Home' near the hospital, so we could be near to Tomas. It meant we were able to say goodbye when the time came.

"I want to do this to honour Tomas' memory and support the amazing work The Children's Trust do and because of the fantastic work the doctors and nurses at the Rosie do."

Conrad will attempt to break the world record for the highest ever tandem parachute jump, while his wife watches from the ground.

Known as a Halo jump, the high altitude free fall from 30,000ft has only been attempted by about 100 people since they began being offered to the public in 2002.

The West Tennessee Skydiving Centre remains the only place in the world to allow jumps at such an altitude.

Conrad admits he is petrified but that it is nothing compared to his son's suffering.

He said: "Tomas spent the whole of his life on oxygen and there were times when he became very upset and fearful.

"But 15 to 30 minutes of pure fear for me will be nothing compared to what he went through.

"They say courage is the absence of fear, but I think it's actually the mastering of it.

"Tomas' memory and the dedication of the Rosie's staff and the Children's Trust will be what help me step through that door."

TRAGEDY: Conrad and Jo Swinfield-Wells lost son Tomas when he was 4 months old.

Two drug arrests are made after police issued warrants

TWO men have been arrested at addresses in Haverhill and both are thought to have been in possession of Class A drugs.

The arrests were made on Wednesday, July 24, at Paske Avenue and Trefoil Court.

Thomas Unwin, 22, of no fixed address, was caught by police at Paske Avenue.

He was arrested on suspicion of possessing a Class A drug and has now been charged.

He will appear at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court on August 6.

A 32-year-old man was arrested at Trefoil Court on suspicion of possession of a Class A drug with intent to supply. He will return to Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre in September.

Prison's hospitality gets rating of two out of five

SPOOF reviews of the country's prisons have appeared online – and Highpoint doesn't quite make the grade.

The prison, in Stradishall, Haverhill, only received two stars out of a possible five in the TripAdvisor-style critiques.

The reviews, written through Google Maps, have been given for facilities up and down the country including Belmarsh and Pentonville, in London, and Altcourse in Liverpool.

Highpoint has received two comments so far.

One says: "It is known as Knifepoint by inmates but I can't imagine why."

The second review only marked the prison as two out of five, not giving any reasons why.

Lively fun in library

CHILDREN can get hands on as shadow puppet workshops prepare to tour libraries around Suffolk.

The sessions are being run by Wishworks in partnership with Creative Arts East, and follow a series of popular shadow puppet shows.

The workshops cost £2 and participants can create their own story, and make it come alive with the puppets.

Children also get the chance to perform their imaginative work afterwards.

A shadow puppet session will take place at Haverhill Library, on Camps Road, on Monday from 2pm.

Workshops are also taking place at Clare, Mildenhall, Newmarket, Brandon and Bury St Edmunds facilities.

Jason set to join in 100-mile ride

DEBRA FOX

THOUSANDS of cyclists are taking to the streets of London this weekend to pedal their hardest for chosen charities.

Jason André, 32, of Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, will be among the amateurs.

He is cycling to raise money for Bliss, an organisation supporting premature and sick babies across the country.

The route will start at the Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park and follow a similar route to the London 2012 road cycling races.

Participants will cross London and Surrey, travelling 100 miles, and finish on the Mall.

Jason said: "The ride will be spectacular and I really appreciated the opportunity to raise money for Bliss as the support they give, not only to premature babies, but also to their families is fantastic.

"As a parent I can only begin to imagine the feelings at that time and having someone nearby to help you is important."

A keen cyclist, Jason only got into road cycling year ago after taking part in another charity ride with colleagues from the Castle Partnership Trust.

He looked for an even bigger challenge and was determined to support a worthwhile charity.

Jason said: "Training has been hard, but also really good fun.

"I'm most worried about the hills, because there isn't much natural hill practice in Suffolk.

"I'm really excited about the ride, seeing the sights and following in the path of some of last year's Olympic competitors."

The event will take place on Sunday as part of a weekend of cycling devised by Mayor of London Boris Johnson.

A free family fun ride will also take place on the day – an eight-mile route designed to tour around some of the city's finest landmarks.

A grand prix cycle, for professional women, hand-cycle and junior cyclists, will go ahead on Saturday.

Visit www.prudentialridelondon.co.uk for more information about the ride.

Proud father does his bit for the team

A DAD has reached into his own pocket to support his local rugby club juniors.

Mark Richardson, 45, of the Chalkestone Estate, Haverhill, has donated some new training poles to the juniors after his son joined one of the teams.

Bradley, 14, decided he want to play rugby last year, and Mark says the change in his son since starting is amazing.

The dad-of-two wanted to show his gratitude to the team and the club.

Mark said: "Last year my son was a typical teenager and wanted to sit and play on his Xbox but now his team building, respect and fitness has just improved enormously.

"The people who train them are giving up their free time and I think a lot of people don't realise that.

"This is my way of giving a small token that they deserve."

Training takes place between 7-8.30pm on Wednesdays and 10.30am-noon on Sundays at the ground at Castle Playing Fields, in School Lane.

Visit www.pitchero.com and search for Haverhill Rugby Club to find out more.

Deadly drug given to man

A FORMER drug user has been found guilty of feeding his cousin a bottle of heroin substitute.

Brendon Jackson, 28, of Westwood Deals, Kedington, had pleaded not guilty to a charge of supplying a class A drug but was found guilty last Friday after a week-long trial at Ipswich Crown Court.

Daniel Boyle, 24, from Haverhill, was working as a steel erector at the same Essex-based company as Jackson.

They worked on a contract together in Bristol in October 2011 and Mr Boyle was found dead in the hotel room he shared with Jackson on October 12.

While staying at a hotel at the Gordano Services beside the M5, it was alleged that the 24-year-old victim had been handed a bottle of methadone by Jackson and encouraged to drink from it.

The incident came at the end of the first day working at an Argos store in the city when Jackson, Mr Boyle and other colleagues had gathered to drink beer and smoke cannabis.

Witnesses who had been present said that Jackson encouraged Mr Boyle to take some methadone.

The 28-year-old had been prescribed methadone and received it legally from a Haverhill pharmacy.

Toxicology tests showed Mr Boyle had died as a result of a reaction to the class A substance.

Medical experts explained to the jury that a single dose of the drug taken by someone unfamiliar with it could prove fatal.

Jackson denied handing the open bottle of methadone to his cousin, and said he did not encourage him to drink from it.

He also said he was unaware that the bottle was open when Mr Boyle, who he thought was "messaging around", put it to his lips.

Jackson said he did not know that any of the drug had been swallowed.

He denied any responsibility for his cousin's death and said: "It wasn't my fault."

The 28-year-old insisted if he had known Mr Boyle had swallowed methadone he would have looked after him to ensure his safety.

Jackson also told the court that as well as being cousins, he and Mr Boyle were good friends and had grown up together.

Andrew Thompson, prosecuting, said: "There is no question that the death of Daniel Boyle was intended or in any way foreseen by Brendon Jackson."

Mr Thompson accused Jackson of attempting to portray Mr Boyle as "the author of his own death".

Jackson said: "He was. He has done everything off his own back. Why am I even here?"

Jackson will be sentenced on August 22, and will remain on bail until then.

Hundreds raised for cancer charity

DEBRA FOX

HAVERHILL slimmers have raised almost £500 for Cancer Research after putting their best foot forward in a range of charity races.

A national campaign between Slimming World and the cancer charity encouraged members to run, walk or jog to raise awareness of the link between being overweight and developing cancer.

Slimming World Groups across the UK held their own races and runs to do their bit, with Haverhill's slimmers raising £439 at a Race at Your Place event on Sunday at The Newcroft.

Around 40 people attended the race and tackled either a 2k, 5k or 10k route.

Slimming World Consultant Tania Watson, who helped to organise the race, said the longest distance was the most popular and £439 was collected on Sunday alone with more money is due to come in.

The consultant, who has been in her role for two-and-a-half years, said: "It was a really lovely day and it made me feel proud because most of the members who took part wouldn't have tried doing anything like this before they lost the weight."

"To see them go off and finish comfortably and enjoy it so much was great."

Tania runs her Slimming World group on Tuesdays at the Newcroft, on Chalkestone Way, and colleague Mel Laing runs the group on Wednesdays.

The groups will continue collecting for Cancer Research

Suffolk's PCC puts town on top of list

THE county's Police and Crime Commissioner held a meeting in Haverhill to reassure residents that policing in the town was high priority.

Tim Passmore attended the best of Haverhill meeting on July 18 at the Days Inn to discuss concerns and address the town's policing from a county level.

The Police and Crime Commissioner went through a number of topics with the meeting's 35 attendees.

Mr Passmore said: "Haverhill is the fourth largest settlement in Suffolk and it's important for me to respond all over Suffolk."

"Haverhill is just as important as anywhere else, as Bury St Edmunds, Ipswich or Lowestoft."

The commissioner discussed residents' worries on speeding, under-age drinking and also addressed the rising impact of cyber crime, including online fraud and identity theft and bullying through social media.

Mr Passmore also discussed the need for policing in the future, and urged the public to get involved with their local police force.

He said: "The public are the police and the public are the public. We are in this together."

Elaine Carr, owner of the best of Haverhill, said: "With questions being asked in Parliament about the impact that Police and Crime Commissioners are having in their communities I think Tim's visit is quite topical."

Haverhill pays visit to No.10 Downing Street

THE new chairman of ONE Haverhill attended a small reception held by the Prime Minister to discuss small businesses.

Sarah Howard, former vice-chair of the board, visited Downing Street in June with 150 others for the special event.

The new chairman took the opportunity to discuss the town's community budget with David Cameron and West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock, who are both fully in support of the programme.

Haverhill was chosen as one of 12 government pilots to trial a community budget scheme, giving residents more of a say in changes they would like to see in their neighbourhood.

This has now been so successful it is being expanded across the country.

Sarah said: "David knew all about the community budget pilots and talked to me about our particular focus on youth skills and employment."

Hotel enjoys time in the sunshine

AN AWARD-winning hotel is taking steps to help the environment.

The Days Inn, on Phoenix Road, Haverhill, already use heat saving room sensors, ultra-low lighting and water saving showers.

Now the team are taking their energy saving to the next level as they bid to produce pollution-free electricity through solar panels fitted to the hotel roof.

Manager Donna Revell said: "Any initiative that we can do, we will do."

"This is just common sense really, and it makes sense to do it."

Days Inn called on the expertise of Chelsfield Solar to identify, design and install a tailor made solar PV system, suitable to complement the high energy demands of the thriving hotel and conference centre.

The investment will cut costs for the hotel, as well as improving the carbon footprint.

Donna said: "In a hotel everything is on all the time and it will save us such an enormous amount of money, and it will help the business as well."

Work has already started to install the panels, which will generate 25,000 units of electricity a year – enough to power six homes.

The project is expected to be finished on August 9.

The hotel has previously won Environmental Awareness acclaim from the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, and the panels, which are guaranteed for 20 years and have a life expectancy of 40, are a long-term investment for the business.

Business brains calling for unity

LEADING Cambridgeshire companies are calling for a business event to become an annual occurrence.

The UNITE Summer Business Forum was created with the vision of bringing together big business names to discuss ideas and anecdotes.

The success of the event was so big that businesses are already appealing to take part in a 2014 day.

Hundreds of guest speakers attended the event, held at Elms Cambridge BMW's £8.5million showroom in Cambourne to collaborate. They included Big Issue founder John Bird, BT Futurologist Dr Nicola Millard and BSKyB's Sarah Anderson.

Kirsten Corrigan, UNITE organiser and founder of Cambridge brand communications agency Method, said: "Bringing together some big names and such a large number of local businesses to share expertise was an ambitious project, but the feedback has been so positive that we will definitely be running the event again next year.

"We are already looking forward to UNITE 2014."

New challenge will see Ed swapping channels

MAKING WAVES: swimming instructor Ed Williams.

PHYSICALLY and mentally exhausted, Ed Williams had been swimming for eight hours solid and all he could see was water in every direction.

It was 2006 and, at just 19, the experienced swimmer was hoping to become one of the youngest people in history to swim the English Channel, but the chilly water and fierce waves were taking their toll on his tired body.

Just as he was considering sacrificing months of training and seeking comfort aboard the support boat, a huge wave lifted Ed high enough for him to catch a glimpse of France far in the distance and the adrenalin kicked in.

"It took 14 hours in total," remembers Ed. "It was very long – 26 miles – and the water was just 15 degrees. I think I was about the 700th person to swim the English Channel – more people have actually climbed Everest than completed the swim."

Inspired by his first major swimming challenge, a year later the 26-year-old, who had been swimming independently since the age of 2, decided to make a career out of his passion and founded the Elite Swimming Academy.

Based in Cambridge, Newmarket and Colne, the company is run by Ed and his wife Rebecca. Since it was launched in 2007 the swim school has grown from holding just a few lessons to now teaching an average of 600 children and adults every week, with pupils ranging from complete beginners to triathletes and even members of the British team.

"I never really knew what I wanted to do with my life," admits Ed from Marathon swimmer Ed Williams is preparing to take on one of the toughest open-water routes in the world. The swimming instructor talks to LOUISE MARTIN about gigantic waves, freezing waters and jellyfish stings.

Willingham. "I was at Anglia Ruskin University studying film when I swam the English Channel but I got so behind, with all the training, that I dropped out and went and did my swimming instructor training and then started up the company."

Ed's Channel swim raised £60,000 for the Prostate Cancer Research Centre, a cause close to his heart as his dad is a doctor who specialises in the strain of cancer and has also successfully battled the disease himself.

In 2009 Ed undertook his next charity swim: an eight-hour slog across Lake Windermere in aid of East Anglia's Children's Hospices (Each), but it's his next challenge, to swim the North Channel, which will be his biggest and most gruelling one yet.

"I'm always looking for that challenge that's just a little bit different and a little bit bigger than the last," explains Ed. "The English Channel swim is the qualifying swim for it so this seems the next natural progression."

Regarded as one of the hardest open-water swims there is, Ed is hoping to become the 11th person in the world to solo swim the epic route, which starts at the Mull of Kintyre in Scotland and ends at the north Antrim coast in Northern Ireland.

Ed also hopes to set a world record in the process by completing the swim in under 12 hours.

"The route as the crow flies is 22 miles but it's not a 22-mile swim because the tides and current are so strong it can actually end up being closer to 50 miles," he says. "It's a very dangerous swim and you won't even be considered for it unless you have swum the English Channel or something equally impressive."

Waves on the northern route can reach up to eight feet and the water temperature, even in August when Ed will be attempting the swim, is between just 10 and 13 degrees. And then there are the many jellyfish to contend with.

"Some of the nastiest jellyfish in the world can be found in that stretch of water but it's not really the jellyfish that concern me, it's more the cold water and the waves," says Ed.

"It's inevitable that I will get stung, which can be very dangerous, but there will be a doctor on board the support boat who is there to look after me and administer antihistamine if necessary."

To up the ante even further, just like when he swam the English Channel, wetsuits aren't allowed, so all that will be between Ed and the icy water are his trusty Speedos, a hat and a pair of goggles.

"It's all about endurance, so one of the rules to make it a legitimate challenge is no wetsuits are allowed," he says. "A wetsuit adds quite a bit of speed and buoyancy, so unfortunately you can't wear one."

Explaining that he likes to take on a big swimming challenge every four years, Ed hopes to match the huge figure he raised when he swam the English Channel and this time he is raising funds for the Rosie Hospital through Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust (Act).

"My wife and I had our little baby (Isabella-Rose) in February and we were very lucky as everything was OK but not all parents are so lucky," he says. "The charity

I choose is always something that's relevant to me at the time."

Despite his North Channel adventure being over a year away, Ed's training is under way and he regularly swims at the Jesus Green Lido and the lake in Milton Country Park, as well as working on his upper body strength with the help of Cambridge Kettlebells.

"Training this year is all about fitness and stamina and then next year, in the final months of training, I'll be doing a lot more extreme distance swimming of around 6-7 hour sessions," he says. "I like swimming outdoors for the freedom, the isolation and the sheer challenge of it, but I like being indoors for the fitness, the social aspect of it and the warmth!"

The one area of his training regime which he admits could do with a little attention is diet but it's not something he's prepared to change drastically. "I probably am a little casual on the nutrition side of things, but I eat what I want," he says. "I had a huge cooked breakfast before I swam the English Channel; for me it was more a case of keeping motivated as you get the calories in and staying hydrated."

Once in the water, Ed's snacks of choice include black coffee, orange juice and chocolate bars, which are consumed while treading water; if he touches the boat then it is automatic disqualification.

Ed believes his swimming challenges have helped him to inspire the people he teaches and he is already thinking about what he will do next.

"One of the reasons why I do these big swims is to inspire the kids that they too can do amazing things and realise their dreams," he says. "There's a challenge called the Ocean's Seven which includes the seven hardest channels on each of the seven oceans and the English Channel and North Channel are the two hardest. Hopefully I will have already done those so the other five are what I'll be working towards next."

Free summer fun for all the family

HAVERHILL Town Council have come up with the perfect solution to stop the boredom this summer.

The month of family fun days, taking place every Wednesday, started yesterday with an afternoon of outdoor fun and games at Puddlebrook Playing Fields.

Three more days of fun are left, including songs, music and dancing in East Town Park on August 14.

DEBRA FOX

Nick Keeble, arts and leisure manager, said: "It's great that we can bring back the fun days, they were such a success last time."

"The town council has worked with organisations in the town to put on these events which mean that at least on Wednesdays in the holiday the children don't have the excuse to moan that they're bored."

Each fun day will run from 11am until 3pm.

Call 01440 714140 to ask for the Summer in Haverhill brochure for details of these free events and lots of others going on in the town.

GREAT TIME: Having fun at Haverhill free activities.

Charities get rewards

HAVERHILL'S town mayor for 2012 and 2013 has made a presentation to his mayoral charity.

Cllr Pat Hanlon, whose term ended in May this year, donated £2,600 to the Suffolk branch of the National Autistic Society.

His charity events included a sit down dinner and a raffle.

He also received a donation of £750 from local firm Fibergrid, as well as funds from other businesses in the town.

Cllr Hanlon said: "I am delighted to be able to help the work of the society in Suffolk."

"It is a cause very close to my heart, and I know only too well how much support families affected by autism need."

This week, the Rovers have a pre-season friendly away at Huntingdon Town FC on Saturday, August 3 (kick off 3pm), before their Eastern Counties League premier division matches begin in earnest the following Saturday afternoon, August 10th, when they are away to Wivenhoe Town (kick off 3pm).

This is followed by a Tuesday evening home fixture on August 13 against Hadleigh Utd, which kicks off at 7.45pm. The team's first FA Cup match of the season is also a home game: against Eaton Manor on Saturday, August 17 at 3pm.

As well as the new manager, Rovers are also looking forward to the high-scoring striker Andrew Ofufo joining the team. Ofufo racked up over 30 goals last season, while playing for Yaxley, so hopes are high for his tally, and Haverhill Rovers' success this season.

A gift from one princess to another

A CARNIVAL princess is planning to spread some joy through getting her hair cut for charity.

Ten-year-old Amber Harvey is preparing to say goodbye to 20 inches of her blonde locks to make a donation to the Little Princess Trust.

The schoolgirl, who attends Wickhambrook Primary School, was voted as the village's carnival princess on June 15.

Mum Divinya said Amber's long hair, which has only ever been trimmed, has always been a family joke.

She said: "She's always wanted to keep her hair long and we have always said she would get to an age when she would want it cut off."

"Whenever I would brush and wash it and it would be knotty and tangled I'd joke that we could sell it and make a lot of money."

The family looked into the Little Princess Trust, and decided this was the perfect cause.

The charity will take Amber's hair and make a wig or a hair piece for a child who has suffered hair loss due to cancer.

A family fun day is being held at the Greyhound pub in Wickhambrook, including a raffle, refreshments and other games, and this is where Amber will get the chop.

To make a donation to Amber visit www.justgiving.com/Princess2Princess

ROYALTY: Amber Harvey is having her charity hair cut on August 26.

Teens failed in jewellery theft

TWO teenagers were forced to flee empty-handed after stealing more than £8,700 worth of gold chains from a Haverhill jeweller, a court has heard.

Thomas Lee-Mahoney and a 17-year-old who cannot be named for legal reasons, had targeted Griffith Jones Jewellers in the town's High Street.

Ipswich Crown Court heard how the pair visited the shop on January 22.

The 17-year-old returned later that morning, when he asked to see a tray of gold chains.

The boy then grabbed them and ran from the shop, joining Lee-Mahoney, of Mill Hill, Haverhill, who had been waiting in the doorway.

Prosecutor Michael

ELEANOR DICKINSON

Crimp said members of the public challenged the two thieves and the boy dropped the tray of chains.

Passers-by helped to collect up the chains and returned all of them to the jewellers' shop.

They had a total value of £8,784.

Both Lee-Mahoney, who had briefly lingered at the scene claiming to be a witness to the theft, and the 17-year-old were later arrested.

Mr Crimp said: "It cannot be said that this was the most sophisticated of thefts."

Neither offender was wearing gloves or a mask.

Ian James, mitigating, said the 17-year-old regretted his involvement and claimed that the theft had not been his idea.

The boy asked for nine other offences to be taken into consideration.

Richard Potts, mitigating for Lee-Mahoney, said he too regretted his actions.

The 17-year-old and Lee-Mahoney both pleaded guilty to an offence of theft from a shop.

Judge John Holt made the 17-year-old the subject of a youth offending rehabilitation order and placed him under Probation Service supervision for 24 months and said he must take part in a programme designed to help offenders.

Lee-Mahoney was sentenced to 150 hours of unpaid community work and placed under supervision for 12 months.

Families set for fun day

A FOOD supply company are holding a family fun day to raise money for children.

Dalehead Foods, in Linton, are doing their bit for the Sick Children's Trust and the Rosie Hospital through a day of fun activities for parents and children alike.

The event will take place on Sunday, August 11, at Linton Village College, and Dalehead hope to raise £10,000 for the charities.

the GUIDE Having a Ball

Michael Ball, Audley End Summer Concerts 2013, Audley End, Sunday, August 4 at 7.30pm. Tickets £35 from www.audleyendconcerts.com

PROFESSIONAL crooner Michael Ball is all set to saturate Audley End with his dulcet tones on Sunday, and he'll have the British Philharmonic Orchestra – conducted by Callum McLeod – to back him up.

At 51, the singer, actor, TV and radio presenter has more gold plated albums to his name than you'd care to count (although we did: he's had 18 solo albums and 15 compilations – that's what you call prolific), and two Olivier Awards for starring roles in the West End, namely in Hairspray and this year, Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street.

Categorised (by Wikipedia at least) as a concert artist, Ball is the kind of artist that fits snugly in Michael Buble's sphere, playing sold-out tours, reducing women of a certain age to tears and wearing slick suits while turning on the power-ballad charm. And it works. The man easily sells out tours and theatres. He might not be everyone's dream act, but he'll definitely have you swaying along.

Kaiser Chiefs

WHEN I was 16, Kaiser Chiefs were considered pretty cool, even if their lyrics were ridiculously repetitive and just an excuse for a bunch of indie kids to jump about on stage, writes Ella Walker.

Made up of the scruffy-haired Ricky Wilson on vocals, Andrew White on guitar, Simon Rix on bass, Nick Baines on keys and newcomer, live drummer Vijay Mistry, they formed in Leeds and have been going since 1996.

They forced their way into the mainstream in 2005 with debut album Employment. Chock full of annoyingly catchy tracks – namely I Predict A Riot and Oh My God – it was shortlisted for the Mercury Music Prize, plus won an Ivor Novello for Best Album.

Since then they've churned out three more: Yours Truly, Angry Mob, Off with Their Heads and The Future Is Medieval, plus a singles compilation last year (Souvenir: The Singles 2004–2012). More recently though they've been hauling themselves up and down the country playing sell out tours, gatecrashing the Eden project and are now set to play Newmarket Nights (we reckon they're the kind of lads who are keen on a flutter). Oh, and a new album is on its way too.

They were part of an indie-rock buzz at a point in time when Razorlight and The Kooks were considered the epitome of cool (only Franz Ferdinand seemed to have clawed their way out of the pack and maintained their credibility).

Then again, Kaiser Chiefs have a witty, intelligent frontman who doesn't have an addiction to white jeans and fluffing his ego (Johnny Borrell: what a waste). In fact, their music might be irritating, but they are, as a band, really quite likeable.

And, after he guest-hosted BBC TV panel show Nevermind the Buzzcocks, Ricky undoubtedly should have been offered the gig full-time.

But then, who'd be yelling out "Ruby, Ruby, Ruby, Rubaaaay!" for thousands of screaming fans? I reckon they might still have it, you know.

certificate 12A, 1h56m

YOU can teach old dogs new tricks or so it would seem in Red 2, the action-packed sequel to 2010 comedy about a team of retired assassins, who merrily kick butt and run rings around highly trained agents 30 years their junior.

Dean Parisot's testosterone-fuelled caper is a hugely entertaining and polished piece of nonsense which ramps up the action sequences as the lean and preposterous plot ricochets between Paris, London and Moscow at dizzying speed.

The dream team of Bruce Willis, John Malkovich and Helen Mirren lock and load once again with giddy abandon, this time welcoming celebrated Korean actor Lee Byung-hun whose martial arts skills allow for some terrific sequences of hand-to-hand combat in bone-crunching close-up.

Red 2 opens at a wholesale grocery store where retired CIA operative Frank Moses (Willis) is enjoying domestic life with girlfriend Sarah (Mary-Louise Parker), who craves excitement in their relationship. So she is delighted when Frank's sartorially challenged former associate Marvin Boggs (Malkovich) pops up unexpectedly in the adjacent aisle.

Marvin's re-appearance coincides with a dastardly plot involving US government agent Jack Horton (Neal McDonough), Russian secret agent Katja (Catherine Zeta-Jones) and an enigmatic figure known as The Frog (David Thewlis).

Frank, Marvin and Sarah go on the run for their lives with Chinese contract killer Han Jo-bae (Byung-hun) in hot pursuit. Stylish assassin

Victoria (Mirren) telephones Frank to let him know that British intelligence have also hired her to put a bullet through his head.

Surrounded by people they can't trust, Frank, Sarah and Marvin embark on a madcap globe-trotting mission in search of answers, which leads them to a covert exercise codename Operation Nightshade and its doddery creator (Anthony Hopkins).

Based on the DC Comics series of the same name, Red 2 delivers as many thrills and spills as its predecessor with tongue wedged firmly in cheek.

Pick fruits for summer

IT'S NOT only the humble potato or common carrot which can thrive on allotments – you can also grow a cornucopia of delicious soft fruits like summer berries and blackcurrants.

What's more, fruit bushes and trees are long-lived. Gooseberries and blackcurrants can do well for 20 years, trees can produce for decades and raspberry canes can last more than 10 years.

"Plot-holders are better off looking at soft fruit because it takes up less space than fruit trees and is easier to manage and pick," says Mike Thurlow, horticultural adviser to the National Allotment Society, which is running this year's National Allotments Week campaign with Kelly's of Cornwall.

"The root run of soft fruit isn't so expansive so it doesn't interfere with other crops or with neighbours' plots."

Summer fruits are generally easier to care for than larger fruit trees. Many currants can be grown as bushes, while raspberries and blackberries need to be trained against a framework structure, usually a post and wire system.

"Soft fruit can't be shoved away in a cold corner," Thurlow explains. "Full sun is needed to ripen the wood rather than the fruit because it is ripe wood which gives you the bountiful harvest the following year."

If you are growing bushes or training trees, plan them as part of the structure of your allotment, as they are likely to be permanent fixtures. Most fruit trees are pollinated by insects so you'll need to avoid windy sites, and add plenty of organic matter to the soil, which needs to be well-drained.

Strawberries, one of the nation's favourite summer fruits, should be placed in the sunniest border and should be moved around on a three-year cycle.

Few allotments allow trees to be grown because they shade other plots and sometimes can't be moved when a new tenant arrives. So if you want to grow fruit trees, you may have to buy dwarf rootstocks to train, creating espaliers, cordons or fans.

"Redcurrants, white currants and gooseberries can be fan-trained and turned into espaliers and cordons. It's a bit of fun. You could train them up the side of a shed or make make a support from stakes and training wires," Thurlow says.

Be warned that blackcurrants are big plants which will need plenty of room, each taking up around 1.5 square metres of ground so don't plant them too close together.

"You'll often have fewer berries from two struggling plants than from one good one," Thurlow points out.

Unless you live in a really mild area and your plot is sheltered, avoid trying to grow tender fruits such as figs, apricots and peaches on your allotment, as they will need so much protection.

All soft fruits should be planted in a sheltered spot away from frost pockets. Choose late varieties to help avoid frost damage and make sure you net the fruits from the birds. A fruit cage is essential and should be allowed on allotments as it is classed as a temporary structure. Avoid planting soft fruit where it has been grown before as it can lead to replant disease, resulting in stunted growth. Buy stock which has been certified free of pests and disease to avoid the fatal viral disease.

As for placing your plants, Thurlow advises to keep all your fruit bushes together as a group in a south or west-facing spot where they will receive the maximum sun.

Growing fruit on your allotment may take a little patience as many types will not bear fruit the same year they are planted (summer raspberries, blackberries and gooseberries will fruit in the second year and redcurrants in the third), but once they are established, they will not let you down.

Seat's new Leon ST estate on way

SEAT has released pictures of the first-ever Leon estate, which comes with significantly more luggage space than the hatchback.

The stunning new Leon ST's 587-litre boot is almost exactly the same volume as the Skoda Octavia hatchback. That also makes it just 23 litres short of the load volume found in the Octavia estate and gives it a new dimension of practicality, especially considering its dual-level floor.

Otherwise, the car is broadly similar to the five-door Leon, albeit with new options such as Adaptive Cruise Control (ACC), Adaptive Chassis Control (DCC) and Progressive Steering all on the Leon ST's options list, but only for certain trim grades.

The engine choices will be familiar, ranging from the 1.2-litre TSI petrol with 104bhp to the 181bhp 2.0-litre diesel. No prices yet but expect a hike of £800 over the five-door hatch.

Plaudits earned by a double dose of Daniel

DANIEL Bentley and Daniel Walker were victorious in the Waddup Windows Medal and Stableford competition at Haverhill Golf Club.

In the junior event, Bentley hit a commendable round of gross 80, nett 71, to win the medal by beating Louis Martin on countback after he scored gross 91, nett 71. Edward Halpin was third with gross 91, nett 73.

Walker was victorious in the stableford with 42 points, reducing his handicap by two shots to 19 in the process and, because of his exceptional score reduction, he was cut another two to 17.

Ben Bradnam was second with 36 and Matthew Carpenter third with 29. Paul Bartlett (right) claimed Haverhill's major event, the R Brown Cup.

In the 36-hole medal, he was first in the morning round with gross 75, nett 69, just ahead of Allen O'Donoghue and Liam Merritt, who also shot nett 69.

Darren Lyons topped the afternoon results with gross 76, nett 65, two clear of both Bentley and Paul Hinchliffe.

But Bartlett's combined score of 139 saw him take the R Brown Trophy by one from Lyons. Bentley was third with 143 and Andy Fish fourth with 144.

Two players received an exceptional score reduction, with Hinchliffe cut to six and Lyons cut to nine.

Haverhill's ladies team are through to the semi-finals of the Cranworth Cup.

Victory for Sheila Price and Sally Price (3&2) was offset by losses for Catie Heathfield and Lyn Fish (4&2) and Doreen Darbey and Norma Humphrey (3&1) as Haverhill trailed 2-1 after the morning foursomes.

But Haverhill staged a comeback in the afternoon with a clean sweep in the singles.

Fish was victorious 5&4, Humphrey was triumphant one up, Heathfield won 3&2, Sally Price had a 6&5 success and Sheila Price earned a 4&2 victory.

Darbey earned her point after her opponent had to concede through injury.

Haverhill will now face Woodbridge in the semi-final on August 22. The other semi is between Newton Green and Bury Golf Club.

Four of the Cranworth team were called on to take part in Haverhill's final Weston Cup match of the season, against Thorpeness.

It was not to be for Haverhill though, as they were beaten 4-1.

Heathfield won 3&2, but there were defeats for Pat Kennedy (one down), Fish (2&1), Norma Humphrey (two down) and Jane Herrington (4&2).

Lady captain Sheila Price said: "The match was played in good spirit. The Thorpeness ladies were very good company and the match was enjoyed by all."

Having fun: Players and officials gather at Haverhill Tennis Club's mini red event.

Joshua triumphs in mini red event

JOSHUA Mumford won Haverhill Tennis Club's county red mini event which was contested by 10 children aged eight years and under.

The emphasis of the event is on fun and participation so that the youngsters enjoy playing the sport, but the standard of competition was high with youngsters serving overhead and hitting with topspin on many of their shots.

Mumford and Josh Izod were first and second in their group, while Saul Hindmarch and Harry Bird qualified from the other group. Sam Fowle just missed out on the knockout stages as he lost 10-8 in his final game, a result that pushed him down to third place in his group.

Mumford then beat Bird 10-3 in the semi-finals, while Izod got the better of Hindmarch 12-10.

In the play-off match for third place overall, Bird won another close encounter, against Hindmarch, 10-8.

The final was a more one-sided affair as Mumford beat Izod 10-4.

Tappin takes to London tri

JACK Tappin competed in one of the world's most popular triathlons when he raced in London at the weekend.

The 26-year-old Haverhill Running Club member was taking part in the Olympic distance of one-mile swim, 26-mile cycle and six-mile run.

He finished the swim in 45min 9sec, the cycle in 1hr 5min 55sec and run in 49min 34sec for a total time of 2hr 53min 4sec.

"It was a nice race and great to see the iconic skyline as I went along, but I had a nightmare getting there and nearly missed it", said Tappin.

"There was great crowd support throughout and it felt like a professional race cycling on closed roads then running through the masses. I knew I'd had a slow swim but then was having a strong cycle."

"I didn't think I'd be able to set a sub-three-hour time, so really pushed myself in the run and managed it achieve it."

Next up for Tappin is his penultimate triathlon of 2013, the Cotswold Classic on August 11.

Blackjacks suffer a loss to Mavericks

LYN Wood's first run of the season could not prevent Haverhill Blackjacks suffering a 24-15 defeat at home to Guildford Mavericks in the British Baseball Federation, A League.

Mavericks raced into a 5-1 lead after two innings, Glenn Barton having got Haverhill off the mark.

Steven Phillips reduced the arrears and Matt Schellhaas added a home run to make the score 7-3 before Barton and Rob Wood pulled two more back in the fourth inning.

But Guildford scored seven runs in the fifth as fielding errors reared their ugly head to take the game away from Blackjacks.

The hosts enjoyed their best spell in the sixth with five runs, including Lyn Wood's maiden score, but Mavericks reinforced their lead in the closing stages.

A ton's not enough

AMIT Gupta's century at the top of the order was in vain as Haverhill lost by six wickets at Ipswich in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

He struck 134 and had the backing of Adam Dellar (27) and Dan Poole (24) in Haverhill's opening salvo of 220 for 9.

But although Gupta, Callum Brunning and Dan Pass got a wicket apiece, and Dellar got a run out, Ipswich replied with 224 for 4 to claim the win.
